Product Description

Abri-Soft Washable is used as a protective underpad for beds and mattresses. It is made of a washable material, and it is suitable for incontinent users who need extra but discreet protection. The product has a breathable liquid safe barrier layer. The surface is soft and comfortable, ensuring the user optimum comfort, while the product has rounded corners to reduce wear and tear when laundered.

Abri-Soft Washable is available in a version with side flaps that is ideal for active or restless users, as the flaps prevent the underpad from moving. It is also available in a version with handles, which makes it easy to reposition the user in the bed.
